

Politics Charges Fired by Ike, Adlai

Eisenhower Outlines 'Full Income' Policy

President's Talk Bristles with Criticism of Demos

PEORIA, Ill. (UP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday night accused the Democrats of "politicizing" with farm problems and outlined a Republican policy of "full income parity" which he said would bring the best agricultural economic situation "in years."

Mr. Eisenhower's talk before 10,000 persons at the Bradley University fieldhouse, his second in the nation's grain belt, bristled with the sharpest criticism of Democrats the President has made publicly since his 1952 campaign.

Illinois Republican leaders hailed the televised address as "straightforward." The President flew to Peoria from Washington and returned to the capital immediately after speaking.

"Full income parity is a full share of our country's good times," Mr. Eisenhower said.

"In a free agriculture, farmers attain that kind of parity only in the market place. That's what I spoke for at Kasson four years ago—the attainment of that full share for the farmer—the preservation of a free agriculture.

"That's what I've been working for. I shall keep on working for it," he said.

His "Kasson" reference was to his 1952 campaign speech at Kasson, Minn., when advocating a fair share of the national income for the farmer, he said "a fair share is not merely 90 per cent of parity—it is full parity."

Later, he and other Republicans said he meant full, or 100 per cent parity, "in the marketplace." Republicans said reduction of surpluses by the government would improve the farmers' position at market.

The President accused the Democrats of forcing down farm prices during the Korean war, saying this took "rare talent." He also blamed them for building great surpluses by politicizing at the farmers' expense.

The President spelled out in detail features of his proposed farm program.

"We will use the new soil bank to its full potential to bolster farm prices, conserve our soil, and balance farm production," he said. "We will continue rapidly to use up our huge surpluses constructively at home and abroad."

He promised to "maintain price supports, carrying the essential principle of flexibility both to avoid the hurtful effects of high rigid supports and to encourage the production of crops in short supply."

"We will use special program to relieve periodic market congestion of perishable farm products."

"We will continue expanding the new rural development program, bringing long-denied opportunity to farm families on the lowest rungs of the economic ladder," the President said.

Hen Sets New World Egg Record

STORRS, Conn. (UP)—A crossbred hen set a new world's egg production record at the 45th annual Storrs egg laying test at the University of Connecticut, it was announced today.

The hen, owned by J. J. Warren, of North Brookfield, Mass., laid 342 eggs and topped 6,370 birds of all breeds in the test at Storrs and seven other similar tests from coast to coast.

The test, which runs for 50 weeks beginning each Oct. 1, is a poultry improvement project of the Storrs agricultural experiment station.

Railroads Ask Mediation in Contract Talks

CHICAGO (UP)—Negotiations were broken off today between the nation's railroads and 11 strike-threatening unions representing off-train employees.

The railroads promptly asked the National Mediation Board to intervene, and a board spokesman said settlement attempts would begin Monday.

The unions represent about 900,000 employees and have demanded a 25-cent hourly pay raise retroactive to Aug. 1. The railroads countered with a proposal to cut pay rates 6 1/2 cents an hour.

The mediation board also will begin settlement attempts next week in two other railroad labor disputes in which direct negotiations have collapsed.

On Oct. 2 the board will intervene in a dispute between the railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, representing about 50,000 firemen. They have demanded a $3 a day raise and a railroad-financed health plan.

On Oct. 3 the board will begin settlement attempts in a dispute involving the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, representing 121,000 employees, and the AFL-CIO Switchmen's Union, representing 8,000 switchmen.

The trainmen are seeking a $3 daily raise and the switchmen have asked for a 25 per cent boost.

In still another dispute, a federal mediator met with officials of the Chicago and North Western Railroad today in an effort to avert a strike threatened by 15,000 non-operating employees.

The North Western dispute involves union demands for "displacement and severance" pay for workers laid off in the railroad's consolidation program.

The mediator, W. G. Rupp, met Tuesday with union officials.

Sign Contracts For Large Plant At Pinckneyville

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Milton R. Rackmil, New York, president of Decca Records Inc., has announced that contracts have been signed with the Pinckneyville Chamber of Commerce for construction of a modern, large plant here.

Dr. Allen Y. Baker, chairman of the chamber's industrial committee, said a construction contract has been awarded for a $725,000 building. It will include 102,400 square feet of manufacturing floor space plus trucks and rail loading docks. Baker said the initial employment requirements are for 250 to 400 people. The plant will have sufficient facilities to accommodate 500 persons per shift.

Ground has been broken for the plant on Ill. 154, two miles east of Pinckneyville. Baker said the availability of steel will determine the speed of construction.

The Pinckneyville chamber raised $150,000 for construction of the building.

Stevenson Hits Administration Of Soil Bank

Democrat Charges President Plans No New Program

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson fired back at President Eisenhower on the farm issue today charging there has been "loose administration" on the soil bank.

The Democratic presidential nominee questioned whether the Republicans are "playing politics" with the soil bank plan, in a speech prepared for delivery in Jacksonville.

Stevenson's reply to Eisenhower followed his attack on the administration Tuesday night in Miami on the ground that it "chose to appease" Juan Peron, former dictator of Argentina.

He charged that a member of the President's family "assumed special, if informal, responsibility for our relationships with Argentina" and the United States kept an ambassador in Buenos Aires because Peron "liked him."

Stevenson did not give names, but personal assistant Roger Tubby identified the family member as Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, and the ambassador as Albert Nufer.

Replying to Mr. Eisenhower's farm policy speech at Peoria, Ill., Tuesday night, Stevenson said it was "noteworthy" for some of its "omissions."

"He proposed no new program for agriculture," Stevenson said. "He didn't even mention his secretary of agriculture. Does he really think he can keep Ezra Benson secret till November?"

Stevenson noted that the President accused Democrats of "playing politics" with the soil bank plan. The Democratic candidate said he would "remind" the President that Benson had "opposed the whole idea—until this election year."

"And it is possible that the President has not heard about the loose administration of the soil bank to pour money into the farm belt before election?" Stevenson asked.

"Or does the President deny that this is playing politics, and with huge sums of the taxpayers' money?" he said.

"It is no secret that the management of local agricultural stabilization and conservation committees have been taken away from local farmer committees and in some cases handed over to Republican politicians," Stevenson said.

Stevenson was scheduled to fly to Jacksonville from Miami and then go to Kansas City, Mo., where he will be introduced at a rally tonight by former President Truman.

Senator Urges Legislation To Govern FDIC

Fulbright to Ask Action When Senate Reconvenes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman J. William Fulbright said today that corrective legislation should result from the Senate Banking Committee's hearings on the Illinois check scandal involving former State Auditor Orville Hodge.

The Arkansas Democrat whose committee ended two days of hearings here Tuesday, told newsmen that more hearings in Chicago are "only a possibility as of now." He said he hopes to decide definitely on the question of more hearings before the end of the week.

But in any event, he said, "it is clear that something should be done" to modernize the law governing the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. in the wake of the million dollar Illinois scandal. He said he will ask the banking committee to act when Congress reconvenes in January.

The committee's two days of public hearings centered on the role of the FDIC and how much it knew of the shady bank dealings involving Hodge and others.

Testimony showed that 12 to 15 bank examiners were investigating the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago last April when some $46,000 in fraudulent warrants issued by Hodge were cashed. Fulbright suggested that the FDIC, which insures deposits in 13,000 banks, should have withdrawn federal insurance and exposed the fraud.

But FDIC witnesses said the cashing of the warrants would not show up any more than the cashing of a check. They said even an audit of the bank would not have disclosed that the warrants had been cashed there.

In a memo on possible legislative action, made public by Fulbright, the committee staff noted that it is "impossible" to say now what legislative steps should be taken. But the memo said steps which "might be helpful" include:

1. Broadening the authority of the FDIC to take necessary corrective action and to give additional supervision when state banking supervisory powers are "below minimum standards."

2. Strengthening laws covering possible conflicts-of-interest cases among state officials—like Hodge—who take financial interests in the banks they are regulating, or among officials of the FDIC itself.

Testimony showed that two FDIC officials connected with banking investigations in the Illinois scandal resigned to take jobs with banks on whose accounts they had been working.

Annual Salvation Army Fund Drive Gets Under Way; Goal is $5,000

The annual campaign for funds by the Salvation Army got under way today with James Black and Dr. Bob Pulliam the co-chairmen. Goal, which is $5,000, was met during last year's drive.

The two co-chairmen and the local officers in charge, Lt. Mildred Wallace and Lt. Marian Haldeman, urged the public to give generously to the campaign so that much-needed work in the area can be carried on.

They report that a good organization has been set up with the following chairmen already named:

Advance gifts chairman—LeRoy Barham.

Business section chairman—Wendell Bramlet.

Residential section co-chairmen—Dr. John Slightom and Charles D. Taylor.

Clubs and lodges chairman—Vern Joyner Jr.

In addition, the following will have charge of collections in the schools here: High school, Eltis F. Henson; city schools, Fred Armstrong; Dorrisville school, Brose Phillips.

Eldorado has organized for the drive starting tomorrow also. Chairman of the Eldorado division is Bratcher Taylor. Omar Hobbs is treasurer and Lee Skaggs and John Murphy are drive committee members.

The Salvation Army's work throughout the world covers a wide scope but locally the two big programs are the spiritual and the welfare. Local officers, besides the regular religious program, always are concerned with the plight of the destitute and needy.

A service report listing in detail the work done by the Saline county unit will be published later.

Last Saturday an ensemble of top musicians in the Salvation Army ranks from St. Louis came to Saline county in the interest of the drive and impressed its listeners.

Praises Record Under Attack By Stevenson

Says President's Brother Did Not Placate Ex-Dictator

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today strongly defended President Eisenhower's brother against Adlai E. Stevenson's charges that he placated former dictator Juan Peron of Argentina.

Dulles told his news conference that the activities of Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower during a 1953 Latin American mission were highly constructive.

At the same time Dulles defended the administration's overall record on relations with Peron who was ousted as head of the Argentine government and now lives in exile.

Stevenson said in a speech in Miami, Fla., Tuesday night that "in Latin America especially," this country's foreign policies sometimes have "placated America's enemies and advanced their intrigues . . ."

He cited Peron as a "dismal example" and said a member of President Eisenhower's "personal family assumed special, if informal, responsibility for our relationships with Argentina." The family member was later identified as Milton Eisenhower.

Dulles said Dr. Eisenhower's relations with Latin America had been highly constructive and said that he never interfered with State Department operations.

As for charges the Eisenhower administration appeased Peron, Dulles made these points:

1. He said the Peron government in Argentina came into power under a preceding administration. Dulles added it went out under the Eisenhower administration.

2. He said Peron got loans totaling more than 100 million dollars under the preceding administration. He said it got none under the Eisenhower administration.

3. Dulles said that under the previous administration some American news agencies were denied facilities in Argentina. He said one of the early efforts under the Eisenhower administration was to get use of these facilities restored.

4. He said the Argentina newspaper La Prensa was seized while the previous administration was in power. He said La Prensa has become free since.

Dulles concluded by saying he thought the Eisenhower administration ought to be proud of this record.

It's Same Dog, Before and After; Care Did the Trick

Yes sir, and yes ma'am, the dog at the left and the full-blooded Boxer at the right are the same dog.

Henry, only the name Henry was applied some time after he was picked up by the Harrisburg Humane society.

It was in late July that the picture at the left was taken, and the one of the right was made just recently, or seven weeks later. It plainly shows what a bit of care did.

The wretched creature at the left was picked up by the society's custodian on North Main street upon a report that it had been abandoned there. Efforts to find out who dropped the dog were futile.

Taken to the shelter, at first it was decided to humanely dispose of the animal, but it seemed so grateful for being picked up and fed and since it was a full-blooded Boxer, the society decided to see what could be done to rehabilitate it.

Six or seven weeks of proper nutrition and vitamin pills, plus lots of mange medicine to clear up the crusty skin, brought pep to the animal, shen to the hide and a bright look from eyes that had been filled with matter.

Today Henry, given that name because of its swishing, dancing way when spoken to, is a gentle, well-mannered Boxer that is the mascot and the pride of the shelter.

Visions of the Future

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

This year both major party presidential nominees felt it wise to go beyond specific programs and talk glowingly of America's long-range future.

This is all to the good, for we understand that we have two candidates who believe in projecting a vision far past the immediate tomorrows. A country so dedicated to growth as ours needs to look down the long vista.

Yet we thought to appreciate a few things about these views thru the long-range lens.

When we peer into it, we are not gazing at a party program, a set of specific promises intended to be translated into law at the next Congress or otherwise brought quickly to pass.

Our visions of the future change as our understanding and mastery of the present are altered. Neither politicians nor anybody else can be held strictly accountable if they shift their gaze to other prospects as the years march by. What seems desirable in 1935 may be hopelessly in the discard by 1955.

Specific programs are something else. A good many politicians, of course, don't like to be measured even against their short-range promises. But it seems fair that they should be.

For these are the elements capable of becoming the law and the policy of the land. The people who go to the polls to choose their leaders have a right to know what to expect, and to penalize or reward those who do not honor their pledges.

But we must distinguish better than we do between such programs and the gauges by which we speak of the "ideal future."

For example, ideally all Americans should be well fed, clothed and sheltered. We may wish to apply minimum levels of diet so high that no other land on earth could match them.

It is proper for both parties to talk of the day when such a circumstance may prevail. But it is not sensible or just to say that Americans as a whole or the leaders of either party have failed if this situation has not been brought off in any given four-year presidential term, or two, or even four.

Prosperity is not "false" if certain ideal levels have not been reached in any or all of our economic endeavors. Prosperity in America always has been relative. We all toil for the day when it will not be, when our gains will be so broad and deep that we will in truth have abolished poverty.

But let us not deceive ourselves, and let us not permit any politician to suggest that the abolition of poverty is now or could be a plank in the platform of either major party.

We have a right to measure prosperity against such a goal and say:

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Eisenhower Urged To Appoint Negro To U. S. Supreme Court; Judge Hastie Would Win Negro Votes In November; Democrats Collect Money From Little Donors.

WASHINGTON. — White House advisers are giving serious consideration to the appointment of a Negro, Judge William Hastie of the U. S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia, to the U. S. Supreme Court. If the appointment is made it would be the first time in history that a Negro was appointed to the Supreme Court and might well put Eisenhower on a plane with Lincoln in the minds of the Negro population.

The President has the Justice Sherman Minton vacancy to fill as the October court term opens. Minton was appointed by President Truman.

It was Truman who also appointed Judge Hastie to be the first Negro ever to sit on the U. S. Court of Appeals. His elevation to the Supreme Court is being urged, among others, by Judge William Denman of the U. S. Court of Appeals, 8th Circuit in San Francisco. Judge Denman, a Roosevelt Democrat, recently wrote President Eisenhower:

"Never has the criticism of godless Russia been so bitter as on this treatment of the Negro," he said, referring to recent southern opposition to school integration. "The appointment of a Negro judge of outstanding judicial capacity more than anything else would tend to mend our deteriorating power in world diplomacy."

White House advisers, who naturally have a weather eye out for political reactions, are not unmindful of the fact that the big city Negro vote is crucial in the November election. Most of them also believe privately that like has lost the solid South, thus has nothing to lose by the appointment of a Negro. It's even suggested that in the end, southern Democrats would fight and filibuster the Hastie appointment so bitterly that the Negro vote would be lost to the Democratic party for years to come.

Note — Judge Hastie was recommended for his first government job, district attorney for the Virgin Islands, by my father, who was then governor of the Virgin Islands. Harold Ickes, then "There is much still to do." We ought not to note the gap and declare that our economic advances are "false" merely because they have not taken us as far as we want to go.

secretary of the interior and in charge of island territories, pushed the appointment.

But because of political opposition, Hastie was first given a job in the Interior Department's legal division, later went to the Virgin Islands as U. S. attorney, became a judge, and eventually governor—the first Negro governor in history. Paradoxically, the people of the Virgin Islands, 95 per cent Negro, turned against Hastie, as they have against many governors, and he ended his term extremely unpopular with his own people.

CAMPAIGN MONEY

Matt McCloskey, the big Philadelphia builder and friend of the Kelly family of Monaco, is nursing some interesting figures regarding Democratic campaign contributions. Actually he isn't nursing them so much as he's rubbing his eyes to make sure they're true.

McCloskey has taken on the thankless job of treasurer of the Democratic national committee and is trying to raise money from little people. It's been tried before, but never successfully. Most campaign money in the past has come from big donors, on the Republican side and big dinners on the Democratic side.

However, here are the figures Matt McCloskey has been nursing:

In the 1948 campaign, four weeks after Truman was nominated, there were only 139 Democratic contributors.

In the 1952 campaign, four weeks after Stevenson was nominated, there were 614 contributors.

But this year, four weeks after the nomination, there are 13,177 contributors.

"Most of it has come in small bills," explains McCloskey, "an average of between $6 and $7 apiece. So we have a long way to go before we even begin to touch that $7,000,000 raised by Len Hall at the Eisenhower dinners last January, or the money the Republicans have raised since."

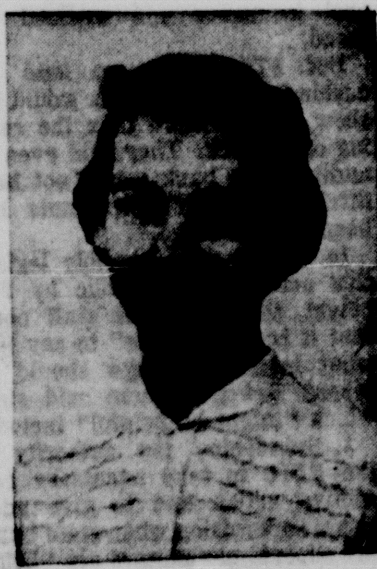

"However, on Oct. 16, every Democratic candidate from Adlai and Estes down is going out to ring doorbells and ask for dollars. Those dollars from little people are not going to put us in hock to the lobbyists of Washington."

Note — McCloskey referred to Senate contentions that gas-oil money was pumped into the last campaign so plentifully that some senators were obligated to the gas-oil men before they voted on the natural gas bill. Oil tycoons Sid Richardson and Clint Murchison, not only pumped money into the GOP campaign chest but picked up the pre-convention hotel bills for Ike's headquarters in New York to the tune of several thousand dollars. In the end, concern over this oil-gas money prompted Eisenhower to veto the gas bill.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Harry Truman faithfully promised Jim Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, not to pop off between September and November. Finnegan was a bit naive. Who would ever expect an ex-president to submit to political censorship — especially Harry Truman? The biggest purchase of Northeast Airlines stock just before the CAB announced Northeast would get the coveted New York-Miami route, was made by Mrs. Gene Troth. She suddenly bought in 4,000 shares a few hours before the CAB announcement. Mrs. Troth is the mother-in-law of Robert Gwinn, president of the Sunbeam company, and a close friend of Senator Dirksen of Illinois.

THE LONG NIGHT

By MARTIN CAIDIN

Copyright 1956 by Martin Caidin. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Henry Thompson does not know what became of his family in the sneak atom bomb attack on the city of Harrington. He believes his wife is dead. His youngest son, Donald, was at home. His oldest son, John, was at a bowling alley and his daughter at the high school.

XIII

John Thompson slowly fought his way through the wreckage-piled streets. Every block was a struggle. It was impossible to continue in a straight path toward the house where he hoped he would find Sue. Many buildings in the neighborhood, nearly three miles from the center of the blast, had withstood the shock wave, but they were battered. Roofs had been ripped off like paper. Lighter frame buildings yielded entirely before the fist of air which carried them from their foundations.

No longer did John stare open-mouthed at the bloody bodies or grimace at the screams of pain. He paid scant attention to the flaming buildings except to curse because the fires forced detours which extended the distance he tried to cover.

It took him nearly two hours to complete the first mile. Soot, dirt, and caked blood matted his face. His clothes were ripped and torn from tripping and falling on the jagged debris. The gash in his leg finally forced a halt to his labored flight, and John stopped long enough to tie his handkerchief around the wound as an impromptu bandage.

Several times he became lost, confused by the totally altered appearance of the streets and buildings he formerly knew so well. He was frightened more by this alien surroundings, this garish scenery, than by the intimacies of the torn bodies he was forced to bypass. His own hands bore the marks of the searching amidst the wreckage for two more street signs he required to assure that he was moving closer to where Sue awaited him . . . where she must be.

He reached Iroquois Ave. The street lights were out, yet there was light, the orange-red of flame diffusing through the thick clouds of smoke and dust boiling along over the ground. With a comparative wide expanse about him, John noticed for the first time the increasing wind intensity. The smoke and dust whirled and surged like some weird sandstorm, sometimes dimly lit by the distant fires, more infrequently glowing fiercely as buildings collapsed in fiery cascades of flames and sparks.

He could not ignore its choking billows. It burned his eyes and fouled his lungs. Firebrands and sparks tumbled through air like great glowing eyes, spreading a hazy, streaked illumination through the smoke. More than once the searing touch of the whirling fire remnants caused him to beat hastily at smoldering clothes.

He found a car. It was not the first he had passed; so many however, were aflame, hurled upside down and pounded into wreckage. The windshield was smashed, the fenders and body scarred with the impact of flying particles shot through the air by the blast. Both front tires were flat.

If the car ran . . . Hastily he climbed in behind the wheel; the key was still in the ignition. The immediate motor response both startled and cheered him. The wheel slewed in his hands as the flattened tires and tubes munched beneath the rims, but he fought the vehicle out into the center lane. He realized he was driving without headlights; turning the switch brought on only one beam, but it was more than enough.

He could drive at barely 20 miles an hour, but to John, who had struggled so long to cover hardly more than a single mile, it was a gratifying pace. The horn bleating a path before the swelling crowds. The continuing motion tore the tires and tubes to shreds, shearing them into pieces which dropped from the wheels. John drove on the metal rims. It didn't matter, only that he was closer, only four blocks from his turn. He stared through the shattered window, tears flowing down his cheeks as the smoke stung and burned his eyes. He could see less than 30 feet ahead, but he was getting there. He was closer.

He shouted with the sudden happiness, a burst of glee which bordered on the hysterical. He was almost there! Nothing else mattered, not the cuts and the bruises, the sore and aching body, the burns. He forgot completely the bloody carnage in the bowling alley. Sue! I'll be right there!

He saw the flashing, bright red lights at the last second. The large trucks with their hoses and grimy men loomed suddenly out of the swirling murk. Not until his foot leaped from the accelerator to the brake did he hear the husky engine roar of the assembled fire trucks, the shouts of the startled firemen as they leaped to avoid his car plunging at them . . . and these voices he heard only for a second as the steel rims screeched protestingly, unable to grip the asphalt without rubber treads, screeched . . . The crash threw him forward against the wheel. His

Supreme Court Upholds 'Cooling Off' Divorce Law

SPRINGFIELD 17.—The Illinois Supreme Court today upheld the 1935 "60-day cooling off" amendment to the state divorce law. The legislation, which had been under legal attack as unconstitutional, provides that actions for divorce "shall be commenced by filing praecipe for summons," and requires a 60-day "cooling off period" before the divorce action can proceed.

The constitutional test of the 1935 legislation reached the Supreme Court on direct appeal from the Circuit Court of Cook County, which had refused a request by Mae Doty to compel the clerk of court to receive and file her complaint for divorce.

Mrs. Doty had refused to file the required praecipe, insisting the 60-day waiting period prevented

The windshield, already smashed and gone, was not there to meet his face as it whipped forward. His eyes bulged out. The next moment he was leaning back again, staring at the steering wheel which had bent over beneath the weight of his body.

President Has Kind Words for Stratton, Dirksen

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — President Eisenhower bestowed kind words and praise on Illinois Republicans during his visit.

The President indirectly commended Gov. William Stratton, who is seeking re-election, for his handling of the million-dollar Hodge scandal.

Mr. Eisenhower also suggested that Illinois voters return Sen. Everett Dirksen to his Senate seat, and urged the election of all Republican candidates.

Stratton was thanked by the President for the friendly reception he received in Illinois, and added:

"I like a man who, when anything goes wrong in government, cleans up fast. That is the way Gov. Stratton works."

The remark apparently referred to Stratton's demand that former State Auditor Orville Hodge step off the Republican ticket for reelection in the midst of an investigation that ultimately sent Hodge to jail for 12 to 15 years on charges of embezzling state funds.

Before Mr. Eisenhower's arrival, Stratton denied that Illinois farmers are "unhappy." He said that they have "some of the best crops ever" this year.

Stratton also discredited the effect Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson was having on the Illinois farmers this year. Stratton said his predecessor was "making no impression at all" on the farmers.

Stratton said he did not inquire about or discuss the President's health.

"Obviously he felt good," Stratton said.

The baseball diamond was created in 1845 by Alexander J. Cartwright, an organizer of the first baseball club, the New York Knickerbockers.

Storm Leaves Threats of Floods

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A band of squalls bearing the name of Flossy spread across the Carolina plains toward the Atlantic today, leaving 15 dead and threats of floods behind.

Flossy lost her hurricane punch in lower Alabama and Georgia but dumped up to six inches of rain over a 250-mile expanse.

While rivers in south Mississippi, extreme northwest Florida, Alabama and Georgia rose slowly with flatland runoff weathermen warned of possible flash floods from streams along the storm's north flank in the Carolinas up-country.

Apple-Throwing Vandals Cause $1,500 Damage In Carterville Area

MARION, Ill. (AP) — Apple throwing vandals have caused window damage which may amount to $1,500 in the Carterville area.

Williamson County authorities are holding four Carterville teenagers in connection with the breakage and may make more arrests they said.

Schools and the Carterville filtration plant were hardest hit by the apple-tossers.

The U. S. Army dental corps was established in March, 1911.

Two More Associates of Hodge Indicted in State Check Scandal

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Two other associates of Orville E. Hodge were under indictment today in the wake of the scandal that sent the former state auditor to prison.

Lloyd Lane, Springfield, former payroll accounts supervisor for Hodge, and William D. Lydon, suspended Chicago policeman, were indicted Tuesday by a Sangamon County grand jury.

Lane was named in two indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the state, and a third charging a conflict of interest while he conducted business with the state while on the public payroll.

Lydon was charged in two indictments with conspiracy to defraud the state. The indictments charged Lydon, head of Fabric Craft Sales Co., Chicago, conspired with Hodge, Edward A. Epping and Edward A. Hintz to appropriate state funds.

Issues Bench Warrants
Circuit Judge De Witt S. Crow, before whom the indictments were returned, issued bench warrants for their arrests, set bond at $10,000 for each man, and scheduled arraignment Oct. 2.

Asst. State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman said Lydon's Fabric Craft Sales Co. was named as payee in some $396,000 in state warrants. The firm held a contract from Hodge to remodel the auditor's offices here.

Ackerman said one of the indictments charged that Lydon conspired with Hodge and the others to obtain $248,726 through a false contract.

The "false contract," Ackerman said, allegedly was used to cover up "a lot of phony contracts and warrants" which Hodge issued and cashed.

There is no evidence, Ackerman said, that Lydon received any of the money, but there is evidence that "Lydon was involved in presenting false vouchers to the state."

Conflict of Interest

Ackerman said the indictments returned against Lane involved various warrants for "travel expenses" made out to Hodge employees and cashed by them, with the money returned to Lane for Hodge's use.

The conflict of interest indictment against Lane resulted from business dealings by two Lane trailer rental firms with the state, while Lane was in Hodge's employ, Ackerman said.

Hodge, Epping, a top Hodge aide, and Hintz, former president of the Southmoor Bank at Chicago, already are serving prison terms growing out of the scandal.

Maximum penalty for each conspiracy indictment is a five year prison term or an alternative year's sentence and a $2,000 fine. Maximum possible sentence for the conflict of interest indictment is $1,000 fine.

Ackerman said the Tuesday indictments concludes the current investigation of the scandal by the September grand jury.

The new jury started its investigation Monday, following the expiration of the grand jury that indicted Hodge, Epping and Hintz.

Ackerman said he had no plans to present any additional evidence or try to obtain additional indictments unless new developments occur.

Three Sentenced For Bank Robbery At Campbell Hill

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Three men who pleaded guilty to the $1,900 robbery of the First State Bank at Campbell Hill, Ill., were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 5-15 years.

Federal Judge William G. Jurgens imposed the sentences Tuesday.

Dee Eugene David, 38, Lexington, Ky., drew the heaviest sentence, 15 years. George Frank Lindner, 25, East St. Louis, was sent to prison for seven years. And 19-year-old Richard Le Roy Townsend of East St. Louis drew a five-year sentence.

The men were captured soon after the armed robbery of the bank last Aug. 1.

Lindner must also serve three years and three months in prison for violation of his parole from a federal sentence for breaking and entering while in military service.

Dulles Believes

Egypt Will

Accept Obligations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of

State John Foster Dulles said today

he believes Egypt eventually will accept "the obligations of interdependence" if the West exercises patience in the Suez Canal controversy.

The secretary said at a news conference he thinks this will happen provided the Western powers refrain from drastic action—such as shooting their way through the canal.

If Egypt does not come to realize it must accept "obligations of interdependence," the upshot, Dulles said, will be that confidence in Egypt will be destroyed and its foreign sources of credit will dry up.

The United Nations Security

Council takes up the Suez issue

later today. In a prepared statement at his news conference Dulles said it is "understandable" that

Egypt, which only recently became independent, should be sensitive to "matters of sovereignty." He said this must be respected.

"But," Dulles added, "we need not feel frustrated because, if we are patient yet persistent and resourceful, there is a good chance that Egypt will come freely to recognize the importance of working with not working against, the many important countries which use the canal and which want good relations with Egypt."

Army Plans Armory At Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — The Army has secured an option on property to build a $187,000 armory here.

Major Ralph Weaver, head of the Centralia Army Reserve unit, said a battalion-sized Army Reserve unit will be formed in the area.

The 200-man armory will be designed so it can be easily expanded, he said. It will house a field artillery unit.

British Ship Breaking Up On Coral Reef

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A British ship breaking up on a reef with 34 men aboard miscalculated its position today and sent a U. S. Army rescue tug on a wild goose chase through "horribly rough" seas to the wrong side of Okinawa.

The 10,000 ton Bedford Earl, en route from Japan to Indochina with empty holds, was caught up by typhoon "Harriet" and slammed against an Okinawan coral reef. A U. S. Army spokesman said the ship was still holding together "but apparently they are in a hell of a shape."

The typhoon, which swept Okinawa with winds of from 130 to 150 miles an hour, was reported moving north toward Japan today. It failed to inflict the heavy damage of typhoon Emma earlier this month which caused nearly $20 million in damage.

The Bedford Earl was the third ship reported in trouble today.

The U. S. Navy tanker USS Tonchatoula radioed it was taking in tow the Panamanian freighter Venus which was drifting in the Pacific 500 miles east of Tokyo, its propellers lost in a mechanical breakdown. The seas were reported calm.

The 8,918-ton U. S. freighter American Mail went aground off the Aichi prefecture coast Tuesday night but with no apparent damage. It was reported still "stuck in the mud" this morning while the 45-man crew awaited high tide.

Later, still a fourth ship reported itself in trouble. The Japan Okinawa ferry boat, Hakusan Maru, with 106 passengers and 68 crewmen aboard, ran aground in the storm on Amami Island north of Okinawa. The Hakusan Maru radioed it was in no immediate danger and that all aboard were safe.

Indicate Jury Drops Probe of Highway Collusion

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A federal grand jury was in session here today, but indications were that it had dropped an investigation of alleged collusion among highway contractors in bidding for highway construction contracts.

Herold Bailey, a special attorney for the Justice Department, said the jury resumed an investigation of possible anti-trust violations by manufacturers of anti-freeze Tuesday.

He refused comment on the highway bidding investigation, but Earl Jinkinson, an assistant attorney general from the Justice Department's Chicago office who headed the highway investigation at earlier jury sessions, was not present.

The jury is expected to recess today or Thursday.

St. Louis One of 'Many Cities' Considered For Eisenhower Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — St. Louis is one of "many cities" President Eisenhower and his aides have under consideration for possible campaign visits, the White House said today.

But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said final plans for visits beyond Oct. 1, when the President will visit Cleveland, Ohio, and Lexington, Ky., have not yet been made.

Hagerty said the President has under consideration a proposal that he make a trip to St. Louis. The proposal was made by Lon Hocker, Republican candidate for governor in Missouri, to the Republican National Committee.

$83,000 Vandalism To Churches by Two Small Boys

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two brothers, 7 and 11 years old, told police Tuesday how they caused $83,000 damage on hookey-playing vandals at two district churches.

Police officials said the youngsters confessed to setting fires, ransacking and desecrating their own place of worship, the Ames Methodist Church, last week, causing damage estimated at $75,000. The brothers also admitted to vandalizing the Beechwood Chapel of Plymouth Brethren Tuesday at a loss of about $8,000.

But, when asked "why," the second and fifth graders shrugged their shoulders.

"I don't know," they responded. The youngsters, not identified by police, were picked up Tuesday a few blocks from the burning Beechwood Chapel.

Eden Reaffirms Stand on Suez

PARIS (AP) — Britain warned again today that it will not accept any settlement of the Suez Canal situation which leaves the vital waterway "under the control of one man or one government."

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden reaffirmed the British stand in an airport statement in London shortly before he and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd left by air for Paris and important joint strategy talks on the Suez with French leaders.

Stay of Execution

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court today granted a stay of execution for Vincent Cucci and George Kelly, convicted Chicago murderers condemned to die in the Cook county electric chair Oct. 5.

Both executions were ordered stayed pending appeals to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Faith Bacon, Ex-Fan Dancer, Leaps From Hotel Window

CHICAGO (AP) — Faith Bacon, who claimed to have originated the fan dance, leaped from a hotel window today and was reported near death in a hospital.

The dancer, toast of the Chicago World's Fair of 1934, had been unable to find a job.

Disillusioned, she dashed to a stairwell window in the Alan Hotel.

A longtime friend, Miss Ruth Bishop, 40, struggled with the once-beautiful dancer and tried to stop her.

But Miss Bacon wrenched free and plunged 2 1/2 stories to the roof of a one-story saloon next door.

Miss Bacon had been packing to return to her family in Erie, Pa., after three weeks of job-hunting had ended in failure.

Police listed her age as "about 40." But that was the age she had given seven years ago when arrested on a minor complaint.

Five American Seamen Train As Suez Pilots

CAIRO (AP) — Five American seamen arrived today to train as Suez Canal pilots and help Egypt keep traffic moving through the vital waterway. They said their motive was "entirely non-political."

The Americans, who responded to a worldwide appeal from the new Egyptian Canal Authority, are Walter Equils, 45, New Kensington, Pa.; Elmo Holland, 43, Newport Beach, Calif.; Gregory Hatch, 48, San Jose, Calif.; Alex Langtrety, 47, N. Y.; and Nico Hagens, Freeport, Long Island.

The five will begin their training Thursday alongside 15 Soviet mariners to help fill the gap left by the mass resignation of at least 180 Western pilots Sept. 14. Two American pilots were among the non-Egyptian employees of the old Suez company who walked out.

The five said they are not bringing their families to Egypt "under the present circumstances."

Janet Blair Rejects Comparison To Ex-TV Wives

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The ghosts of two former TV wives hover uneasily over the Sid Caesar show an enrollment of 137 pupils. The first grade has 13, second 19, third 11, fourth 24, fifth 16, sixth 17, seventh and eighth 20. Edith Cain teaches the first and second grades, Mabel Leonard, third and fourth, Roswell Siney, fifth and sixth, and Cecil Fulkerson, principal, seventh and eighth grades. As yet there is no music teacher for the Raleigh grade school.

this season, but Janet Blair, wife No. 3, refuses to believe in spooks. "I'm absolutely flabbergasted, really flabbergasted, the way everyone is out to compare me with Nan Fabray and Imogene Coca," bristled the blond Miss Blair.

"I'll be darned if I'll be compared. This comparison business, frankly, just embarrasses me."

"I'm Janet Blair. I have my own talent, my own way of expressing myself. Imogene is Imogene. Who could ever be like her? She's a fantastic performer. And Nan is just wonderful at expressing herself—I was terribly upset myself when she and Sid broke up."

Miss Blair, who has moved through successive stages as a citizen of Altoona, Pa., a singer with the Hal Kemp band, an ingenue in Hollywood, a performer on the night club circuit and a star of the "South Pacific" road company, signed with Caesar last April.

"I had been offered my own series many times, but I guess that doesn't make me particularly unique — that happens to most stars," said Miss Blair.

"A TV series is not the most divine thing to do. TV has such an immediate impact that a performer can kill himself by laying an egg. So I was quite wary."

Her first show with Caesar this season was a little rough, but Miss Blair feels time will iron out the bumps.

Two Eldorado Youths Turned Over To Commission

Two Eldorado youths yesterday were turned over to the Illinois Youth Commission when arraigned before County Judge Trafton Dennis in connection with some Eldorado burglaries, which they admitted. A third was turned over to his father in Wood River.

Sentenced to the Youth commission were Paul Hudgins, 15, and Don Holbrook, 16. They were taken to the county jail after sentencing.

They previously had been on probation, officers said, but the time had run out. Still on probation was Lonnie Mercer, 14, whose probation was extended. Mercer had been living with his mother in Eldorado, but Judge Dennis switched the custody to his father in Wood River.

The three, arrested by Eldorado police, admitted entering the Bradford Supply Co., the Meyer Elevator Co., the Eldorado Produce Co. and the Bramlet feed store, all in Eldorado.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Two factors in motor vehicle accidents overlooked by a great many persons are the mental attitude and the loss of temper of the motorist. In the field of safe driving these come under the heading of "unknown quantities."

There is no measurement available to determine the number of accidents, deaths and injuries caused by motorists who do not have the proper mental attitude when behind a steering wheel or who lose their temper while driving. Police reports can only give known facts or facts obtainable at the scene of an accident. Few—if any—drivers will admit that an accident was the result of the loss of temper or the wrong attitude.

Some motorists have a tendency to lose their tempers when they find themselves in a long line of cars on a two lane road or when waiting for a long freight train to pass a crossing.

An example of a driver with the wrong attitude is one who will hog the center line so that other vehicles are unable to pass him.

These two factors do not appear in the statistics showing the causes of accidents, but they are responsible for a good number of our highway accidents, deaths and injuries.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Teen Town Notes

By Joan Seright

Hi Gang!
Did you miss me last week? I really didn't have too much to tell you and I knew you would rather I wait and give you more "all at once."

It's just about time for another Teen Town meeting. The junior and senior council will meet the third Thursday in October.

Thanks to the following chaperones: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Belmont McDaniell, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. John Slighton, and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hiller. All of these are members of the Rotary club. The list covers two weeks. I'm sorry I didn't get their names in until this week.

Say, this is for those who would like to polish up on their dancing. I've heard rumors that Mrs. Marlin is going to give free lessons in dancing. That would be "mighty nice" of her if it can be arranged. Well, I guess that's about it till next week.

Open House at Carrier Mills High Thursday Evening

The halls of the Carrier Mills Community high school will be filled with old familiar faces Thursday evening, Sept. 27, as former students take their places in classrooms they have not entered in many years. Principal Warren G. Jennings announced today.

The entire community is talking about the opportunity to sit in actual high school classes again as the first annual C. M. C. H. S. Open House is held at 7 p. m. Plans for this unusual project have been undergoing completion for several weeks and widespread interest is almost as high as for the annual C. M. C. H. S. homecoming. The opportunity to observe teachers and students in an actual learning situation has not been available to most school patrons and many are planning to enjoy this opportunity, Mr. Jennings stated.

Student Council members will be stationed at strategic points in the building to serve as guides and to answer questions about the various departments. School visitors will have from 7 p. m. until 7:30 p. m. to look through the building and revive nostalgic memories before the first class begins. All regular afternoon classes will be held Thursday evening, starting at 7:30, and lasting 15 minutes each.

At 8:30 p. m., classes will be dismissed and the group will then

Former Miami Policeman Shot to Death in Illinois

BERWYN, Ill. (U.P.) — A 42-year-old former Miami, Fla., policeman was found shot to death in a gangland style in his car early today. Officials said two shotgun blasts ended the life of Dallas L. Carroll, who was living in Cicero, Ill., at the time of the shooting. He was identified through papers found on the body.

His wife, Dorothy, 42, said Carroll left their home Tuesday in a borrowed car, and she had not heard from him since.

Police reports indicated that Carroll had quit the force before coming to Chicago, where he and his wife operated a restaurant in Cicero.

The Cook County coroner's office said the victim had been shot from a speeding auto.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Have you ever held the telephone in your hand for endless minutes while some talkative person at the other end of the line talked on and on? Most of us have become so weary on occasions that we have quietly placed the telephone on a table. We pay no attention to the conversation and we pick up the receiver only when the yakity-yak ceases.

If we so much as say "yes," the persons starts all over on a new subject and our weariness continues. It takes a great deal of patience to merely listen to words without an opportunity to reply.

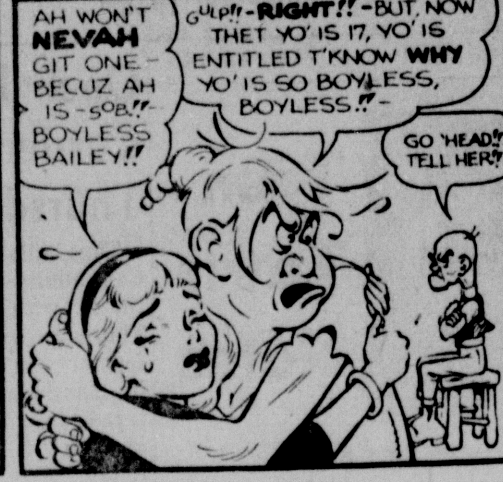

God is more patient than mortals, but He must become very weary listening to some of our prayers. We talk endlessly about our troubles and about the things we want Him to do for us. We tell God what to do for us and how He ought to run the world. We remind Him of His promises and demand that He follow precedence as we interpret the past.

We need to listen to God if we are going to know His will. God already knows the things which we tell Him, but we do not know what He could tell us. Let us do some listening when we pray instead of talking endlessly. Prayer should be a two-way conversation. We cannot possibly hear God if we do all the talking.

Marriage Consultant Sued for Divorce

LONDON — Mayo Wingate, 41, a prominent marriage consultant and columnist and co-founder of the Marriage Society, is being sued for divorce.

Wingate, a psychologist who writes on marriage for a woman's magazine, helped found the Marriage Society for helping make matrimony work.

He once wrote a book that the real danger period in a marriage is the seventh year. The Wingates have been married seven years.

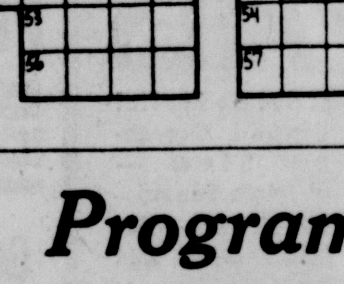

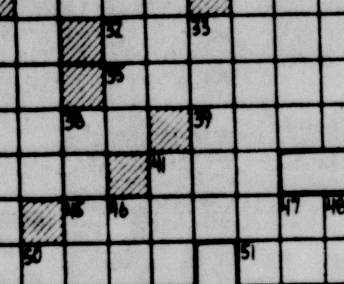

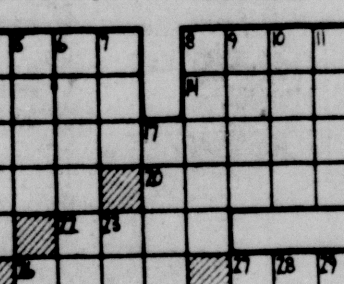

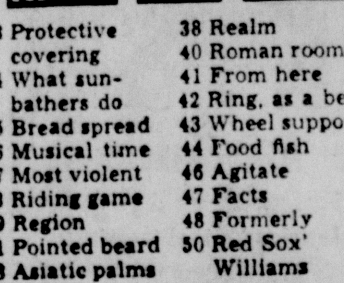

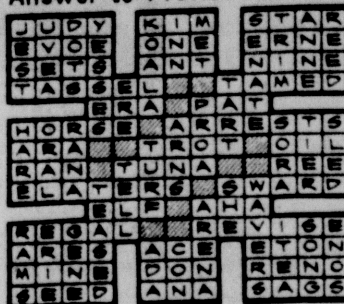

Mrs. Beryl Wingate, 30, petitioned for divorce. British law does not permit publication of the grounds.

Castle Has Inside Track for U. S. Court Vacancy if Illinoisan Named

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Illinois Atty. General Latham Castle, Sandwich, has the inside track for a vacancy on the U. S. Supreme court if it turns out that the post goes to an Illinoisan. This doesn't mean he is under consideration or that his name has been suggested but should Gov. William G. Stratton be consulted he probably will favor the state's highest law enforcement officer.

Stratton said he hasn't as yet been consulted, has been too busy with the duties of his office and with campaigning for re-election to go into the subject but feels that Castle has the necessary qualifications for a U. S. Supreme court judgeship. Castle, the Governor said, has had considerable judicial experience both as a judge, a lawyer and prosecutor, and he is only 56 years old.

Castle, born in Sandwich, DeKalb county, on Feb. 27, 1900, has spent more than half his life in public service as a law officer. He was DeKalb county state's attorney for 12 years (1928-1940);

10 years as DeKalb county judge; was corporation counsel for Sylvanore, and is now concluding his first four years as attorney general and is currently a candidate for re-election.

Castle also served frequently as an assistant to the late Cook County Probate Judge William F. Waugh when that court was known as the busiest in the world. He received his law degree from Northwestern University in 1924, and soon after that became city attorney of Sandwich. He was the third generation of the Castle family to serve as president of the Sandwich State Bank, which he resigned in 1953.

Castle however, is not the only Illinoisan who could qualify for the court vacancy which is caused by the retiring Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton of Indiana. Stratton said there are several others in the state who have had the experience to justify being named but he did not go into detail of naming any of them other than mentioning Castle.

Other observers feel, could include U. S. Sen. Everett Dirksen, Pekin, a candidate for re-election to the U. S. Senate; U. S. Appeals Court Judge Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Chicago, former speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives; and Cook County Superior Court Judge Walker Butler, Chicago, former president pro tem of the Illinois State Senate.

Prospects of an early special election to name a successor to the late Judge Ralph L. Maxwell, Nashville, in the first Illinois state supreme court district. It will take some persuasion to get Governor Stratton to call one before next June when the regular judicial elections will be held.

The Governor says he has reached no definite decision, that he will confer this month with members of the court to see what their situation will be next spring, that if there is a congestion of cases he will call one but indicated it will take some convincing because of the cost of a special election other than in conjunction with the regular June 3 judicial elections.

The date at which a special election to fill the Maxwell vacancy at the earliest would be in December. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, has advised Stratton that at least 100 days will have to elapse between the date of calling a special election and the date on which it would be held. The Maxwell vacancy runs to 1960.

Land O' Lincoln visitors this year get something new in souvenirs. Instead of the customary small black and white state house guide they get one done in green and white with the state slogan "Land O' Lincoln" added is a black silhouette of the state with a white outline of Lincoln's head. A new chapter of the pamphlet deals with the $11.2 million state office building.

The 8-story structure, completed in 20 months at a cost of $1 million under the amount appropriated by the General Assembly is expected to serve as a model for other states suffering from growing pains and high rentals. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, says the new building saves the state hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in rents.

It was built on the recommendation of Governor Stratton who points out that it has an 82 per cent efficiency ratio, meaning that 82 per cent of the floor area is actual usable space with only 18 per cent taken up by elevators, storage and corridors. Wings of the new building are seven stories high with the center of eight floors. A cafeteria which can serve 400 persons, is in the basement.

Americans eat an average 60,000,000 pounds of meat a day.

Republicans Plan National Ike Day

WASHINGTON — Republicans will celebrate President Eisenhower's 66th birthday next month with get-out-the-vote "Ike scrolls" and "Ike day cakes." The scrolls and cakes will be part of the GOP festivities planned for "National Ike Day" Oct. 15, the day before the President's birthday.

The National Ike Day Committee scheduled a lunch today to complete plans for the birthday celebration. The menu was scheduled to include "Eisenhower stew."

The committee said the "Happy Birthday, Ike" scrolls will be circulated throughout the nation to collect signatures of persons pledging to do all they can to get out the vote Nov. 6.

Autumn Color Tours Beginning Of Scenic Spots in Shawnee Hills

Autumn color auto tours are beginning as the leaves of the Shawnee hills in the Illinois Ozarks are changing their colors. A favorable growing season gives promise of a more gorgeous display than usual.

Last Saturday about 125 Girl Scouts and their leaders from East St. Louis were entertained by the Southern Illinois University assisted by Southern Illinois Incorporated in a tour of the campus at Carbondale and the natural attractions of Giant City park. These excursions will continue with other Girl Scouts from East St. Louis for the next four Saturdays.

Last Sunday Lowell Dearing of Mt. Vernon led an auto tour of a dozen cars, meeting at the square in Harrisburg in spite of the rain, for a tour of the highlights of Pope county. Mr. Dearing also showed his scenic slides at Benton where there is a request for a similar tour starting point. It is hoped that several other communities will develop tour leaders with the cooperation of the local newspapers for a visit to the more scenic sections of southern Illinois it was stated today by William H. "Arley, Harrisburg, recreation chairman of the S. I. I.

On Sunday, Sept. 30, at 10 a. m., the Eddyville Scenic Sites Association has invited any family group to meet at the highway intersection where guides will be available to lead them to several beautiful scenic spots within five miles. The main attraction will be the Indian Kitchen and Prehistoric Stone Fort on the hairpin bend of Lusk Creek. Over the years the torrent of spring floods has undercut the towering bluffs and has left a pool 35 feet deep. This is said to be the wildest canyon in southern Illinois. Family groups are urged to come in their own cars, bringing a picnic lunch and drinking water. In addition their will be cold sandwiches and drinks at the main picnic site. It is expected that the leaders of various tours will be present to discuss plans for further auto tours.

On Sunday, Oct. 14, at 10 a. m. a caravan of autos will assemble at the southeast edge of Harrisburg on routes 45 and 145. This tour will take in scenic spots to the south and east toward the Ohio River.

Wayman Presley, the originator of the idea of Sunday auto tours, will announce a tour starting from Carbondale about the end of October, depending on the maturity of colors. There have been suggestions for other fall tours.

Carmi Group Protests Water, Sewer, Power

CARMI, Ill. (AP) — A group of citizens here who are protesting water, sewer and power conditions in the city have formed a permanent organization.

Mrs. John Renshaw, 32, mother of three children, was named chairman of the Carmi Civic Improvement Organization Monday night. Mrs. Renshaw, a registered nurse, said about 100 persons attended.

The group hopes to present petitions to Gov. William Stratton on his visit to the city next month, unless conditions change in the meantime, Mrs. Renshaw says.

The organization also plans to employ a lawyer, and raised $88 Monday night for that purpose.

Mrs. Renshaw said the group is urging a survey to assure citizens of the safety of the water.

Meanwhile, city officials said checks by the state have shown that the water is pure, and that daily tests have been requested.

The city has ordered surveys on water, sewer and power facilities.

"We're just amateurs," said Mrs. Renshaw. "We have no political axe to grind. It's a matter of community health," she said.

Maglie Hurls No-Hitter in Spectacular Clutch Pitching as Dodgers Win, 5-0

Newcombe to Face Roberts; Spahn Defeats Reds, 7-1

By United Press
It's up to Don Newcombe and the embattled Dodgers to see today that Sal Maglie didn't pitch one of baseball's all-time masterpieces in vain.

Given a reprieve by the 39-year old Maglie's 5-0, no-hit triumph, against Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies today in an effort to sweep the two-game series and go back into a tie for the National League lead with the idle Milwaukee Braves. A loss would drop the Dodgers a full game behind the Braves with three games left for each.

"That no-hitter won't be worth a nickel if we don't win Wednesday," said Jackie Robinson in the Dodger clubhouse Tuesday night. "But we can't let that happen. We've just got to go on now and take it all."

For Maglie, meanwhile, there was the honor of having pitched the most spectacular "clutch game" the majors had seen in 48 years. Not since Cleveland's Addie Joss pitched a perfect game against the White Sox in the decisive game of the 1908 American League pennant race had a pitcher turned in a no-hitter with so much riding on every delivery.

It was a game the Dodgers had to win because Warren Spahn, another great old pro, had pitched the Braves to a 7-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday afternoon. That victory all but mathematically eliminated the Redlegs from the race.

In this situation, the amazing Maglie — a one-time "Mexican jumper" — and later the most famous "Dodger killer" of 'em all as a star pitcher with the hated Giants — achieved his finest hour. He walked only two batters and hit another in setting down the Phillies with a total of 110 pitches. It was his 12th victory since joining the Dodgers from the Indians on May 16.

Spahn's splendid effort enabled the 35-year old Milwaukee southpaw to reach the 20-victory mark for the seventh time in his career — a feat which previously was attained by only Grover Cleveland Alexander, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Eddie Plank, Lefty Grove and Bob Lemon. Spahn yielded only six hits and one walk in chalking up the 203rd win of his career.

Johnny Antonelli won his 19th game as the New York Giants routed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-0 and Don Kaiser pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 6-2 decision after the St. Louis Cardinals turned in a triple play en route to a 5-1 win behind Lindy McDaniel in other NL activity.

In the American League, the champion New York Yankees downed the Baltimore Orioles, 11-6, as Bill Skowron drove in five runs with a single and a double. Mickey Mantle appeared only as a pinch-hitter again and kept his average at .355—six points ahead of Boston's Ted Williams.

Early Wynn gained his 20th victory when Rocky Colavito's three-run 10th-inning homer gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-1 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics and Billy Hoeltz notched No. 19 as the Detroit Tigers scored a 5-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Maxwell's 28th homer set a club record for a left-handed batter.

Williams knocked in four runs with his 24th homer and a bases-filled walk to lead the Red Sox to a 10-4 win over the Washington Senators in the other game. The loss was the Senators' 10th straight and 16th in 17 games.

Four Varsity Members Quit Squad As Bull Dogs Prepare for Eagles

Henshaw, Fulkerson, Martin, Roberts Quit Voluntarily

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti, whose Bull Dog football team has been beaten decisively in its first two contests, today had further woes as he prepared for the invasion of strong Eldorado to Taylor Field Friday night.

Caluffetti announced yesterday that four of his varsity squad members had dropped football and would not be back. They included the co-captain of the team.

Boys who quit voluntarily, he said, were Bill Henshaw, first string senior end and co-captain, and the team's best kicker; Bennie Fulkerson, senior end who was slated for first string but who suffered a knee injury early in the season; and Dale Martin and Bill Roberts, junior linemen. Martin at 217 was the heaviest man on the squad.

Caluffetti said that the decision of the four complicated matters as he tries to get ready for Coach Al Adams' fast crew Friday evening. He said his first string ends will be two juniors — Bill Yates, who has started at the position in the two previous games, and Bud Logan, who saw quite a bit of action against Marion last Friday night and who did a creditable job of punting when Henshaw was out.

Now a problem is to find reserves, Caluffetti said, indicating that several boys would have to play several positions. Caluffetti said he hoped to make an end out of Ray Hassett, first string junior tackle, and possibly out of Don Pickford, sophomore who has played both tackle and guard this year. Possibilities for the starting tackle spot vacated by Hassett could be Ron Maynard, sophomore, Jack Simpson, junior, or Pickford if he does not change to the end position.

Trevor Whiteside, senior half-back who has been out of action several days because of a foot ailment, was practicing again last night.
